This article explores and defines the concept of understanding in order to move towards a theoretical and methodological validation of the concept. Using field research in three communities in Austria, Germany, and the Czech Republic, we present a first interpretation of the concept of "global," focusing on the needs of an educational and scientific community on global issues for their social and professional promotion.Q: Is it possible to schedule SSIS jobs in SQL Server? I'd like to schedule jobs in SQL Server 2005, similar to the way we can do it in SSIS. I know it's possible to schedule jobs in SSIS, but is it possible to do it in SQL Server 2005 as well? I have not seen anything about this in the documentation, which is why I'd be surprised if it's not possible. Thanks for the help. A: As of SQL Server 2005, the ability to schedule tasks like stored procedures or jobs using SQL Server Agent has been removed. It's now REST API only. In your particular case, you should be able to build your automation using TSQL. Here's a tutorial on how to do this: A:
